

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is air conditioner having an indoor part and an outdoor part as one unit. The air conditioner including: an indoor part for inhaling an indoor air to exchange heat with the inhaled air through an indoor heat exchanger, and again discharging the heat-exchanged air into an indoor space; an outdoor part for inhaling an outdoor air to exchange heat with the inhaled air through an outdoor heat exchanger, and again discharging the heat-exchanged air into an outdoor space; a base having parts constituting the indoor part and the outdoor part installed thereon; and a barrier integrated with the base, for partitioning an upper space of the base into the indoor part and the outdoor part.